Is Your Musical Ear Keener than Zenatello's?

KNIGHTED by the King of Italy—acclaimed in the musical centers of the Old World and The New—one of the great tenors of all times—Zenatello has delighted thousands with his "voice of golden tone, prodigal in its expenditure, yet responsive to every emotional shade." Zenatello is the leading tenor of the Boston National Grand Opera Company.

The NEW EDISON

Re-Creation of his voice. Over three hundred musical critics say that the New Edison Re-Creation of the voice is indistinguishable from the original.

Is your musical ear keener, truer than Zenatello's? Make the test. Hear the New Edison Re-Creation of Zenatello, Anna Case, Thomas Chalmers, Albert Spalding and other great artists.

We will gladly arrange a concert for you and your friends, so that you may hear these Re-Creations.

Pte Hopkins Laid To Rest With Military Honors

The funeral of the late Private Thomas Hopkins, who died at the Frank Military hospital on Tuesday, took place from the Roman Catholic church, Blairmore, this afternoon, and was very largely attended.

Private Hopkins belonged to the 89th battalion, and has been a patient at the Frank institution for some time. He was sent back from England suffering from tuberculosis. The funeral rites were conducted by the Rev. Father Rydning, of Macleod. The majority of the patients from the military hospital were present, under the command of Captain Patteson. Several beautiful wreaths from comrades adorned the casket. A firing party from Lethbridge were present, and fired the usual volleys, and the "Last Post" was sounded as the remains were being laid in the grave. At the church a very touching address was delivered by Father Rydning.

Private Hopkins had many friends in the district, who turned out en masse to show their sympathy. Deceased was a native of Limerick, Ireland, where his mother still resides.

There is Only One Way to Reduce the

HIGH COST OF LIVING

That is to

INCREASE PRODUCTION

Everyone cannot OPERATE A FARM, but every GARDEN that is cultivated this year will increase the Food Supply.

EVERY HEN YOU SET will mean more chickens, and later MORE EGGS. These will mean INCREASED VITALITY IN CANADA. This may be THE WAY IN WHICH YOU CAN HELP.

THIS SHOULD BE CANADA'S GREATEST YEAR OF NATIONAL SERVICE

The appeal comes to everyone. Whether you live in a City, Town or Village or on a Farm. No matter how small your garden patch is, it will help.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture is at your service in this work. If you want information or assistance, write to the Department, or write to the nearest School of Agriculture or Demonstration Farm and your request will have immediate attention.

TEST ALL THE SEEDS YOU SOV

We will do this for you if you send in samples of the seed.

BRITAIN—CALLS TO CANADA—

THE FACTORY

THE FARM

She must have Food—

for her Armies in the Field—for her Workers in the Factory—in the Munition plant—in the Shipyard—in the Mine.

THERE'S DANGER IN SIGHT—BUT YOU CAN HELP

DO YOU KNOW—

that the rapidly rising price of food stuffs means that the World's reserve supply is getting small?

DO YOU KNOW—

that a world-wide famine can only be averted by increasing this supply?

DO YOU KNOW—

that a "food famine" would be a worse disaster to the Empire and her Allies than reverses in the Field?

YOU CAN—

help thwart Germany's desperate submarine thrust on the high seas.

YOU CAN—

do this by helping to make every bit of land in Canada produce—the very last pound of food stuffs of which it is capable.

AND REMEMBER—

that no man can say that he has fully done his part—who having land—be it garden patch, or farm, or ranch—fails to make it produce food to its utmost capacity.

Women of Russia to Celebrate Vodka Ukase

Anniversary of Prohibition Edict in Russia Set Aside as Day of Thanksgiving

Women, always the greatest sufferers from the effects of the liquor traffic, are showing, in Russia at least, that a prohibition edict is not a blessing in disguise. A full statement of the case is given in the following article in "Woman's Journal."

"Another red-letter day has been added to the Russian women's calendar. It is July 29, the anniversary of the day when Czar Nicholas issued his ukase forbidding the sale of vodka."

"To business will be done on this day, and processions of women will go to the churches to give thanks for vodka being taken away from them."

"The prohibition law has quite altered the habits of the women in Russia. Many formerly spent on drink is now spent upon their children, and on their own, on newspapers and on war loan investments."

"A Russian workman no longer comes Monday as a holiday; he cannot get drunk on Sunday. The gut-burners are no longer encumbered with saints' days and Sunday-making on farms of dead drunk workmen."

"Crime has decreased; children look better; and a better lot of co-operative unions are increasing by leaps and bounds; there is a perceptible change in the popular reading matter; and family life is more improved. Women are no longer so much to be pitied."

"The provincial council of the province of Moscow lately sent out questions to the heads of villages as to what the peasants really thought about the drink prohibition edict."

"The answers were that while all women praised the ukase, a small minority of the men condemned it."

An Inheritance Worth Defending

Lloyd George Tells Britishers About the Richness of Their Little Island

"This is a great country. It is a country with a good many natural advantages. It is not a matter to be despised that it should be an island. It is a matter to be proud of."

"In the occupied territories of France and Russia, and you will realize that there is a fine old world found this castle. Don't take it for granted that you are nothing."

"Work all the harder for gratitude that you have got it; work all the harder to keep it. They are trying to make it impossible for us to use it. It is a rich country, and it is in the hands of a few people."

"It is under the soil, rich in its people, rich in its past, rich in its present, and rich in its future. That depends upon its people today. It is a great land. It has the good fortune to be a great land."

"The struggle of generations for freedom have matured into the traditions of the people. They are the traditions of the people. They are the traditions of the people."

"The inheritance is worth defending. But no man or woman who shares in that inheritance, as we all know, has any right to be selfish."

"It is over, we can see that the struggle is over. The privilege, the pride of defending it ought to be as much as theirs. Then, when that struggle is over, we can see that we have not merely left Britain immune from the greatest threat that ever came upon this island."

"The struggle of the people of this land stood for most among the nations of the earth, organized and arrayed in the struggle for the preservation of the civilization of the world."

Substitute for Wheat

New Variety of Beans Said to Contain All Food Elements of Wheat

There has been developed in South America a new variety of beans which contain all the food elements of wheat. It is called "moulino." Over 2000 tons of these beans were shipped from January to March, 1916, from the state of Sao Paulo to the different states of Brazil and foreign countries, particularly to Europe, for the feeding of the Allied soldiers, and they declare that soldiers in the field are getting more nourishment from them than from wheat. It is expected that an immense acreage will be planted this season, and it is expected that the beans will be a direct competition with wheat. It is said that the flavor of these beans is so satisfactory that they are preferred to any preparation of wheat. — Omaha World-Herald.

Purely Surface Indications

Charlotte came into the yard looking very sweet and pretty and quite unconscious of the fact that she was being stared at by a crowd of people. "I am prettier than you, ain't I?" she said to a man who was working in the yard.

"That depends on how you be have," he replied. "If you don't be so sweet, you won't be so pretty."

"She looked him over critically, expressing her conclusion. 'My, but you are a handsome fellow,' she said. 'How many?'"

"That depends on how you be have," he replied. "If you don't be so sweet, you won't be so pretty."

"I don't always get stenographers who are heard you swear?" Tommy—She asked me, where I learned it.

"What do you tell her?" Tommy—'I didn't want to give you away, po, I blamed it on the poet.'

German-American Papers

Mischiefous Results of Their Propaganda During Past Thirty Months

The blame for this unfortunate situation rests primarily upon the German language press of the United States. Its responsibility is the greater because the motive was entirely commercial.

When the war began, the German-language newspapers in the United States were assured of a large circulation. They had been steadily losing circulation, revenue and prestige, and the war gave them an opportunity to rehabilitate themselves financially.

This could be done only by an organized appeal to the passion and racial solidarity of Americans of German birth.

The efforts of the German-language press were admirably supplemented by efforts and better thought-out official German propaganda. All American newspapers which were not German were assured of a large circulation of lies. Germans were warned not to read them, as these newspapers were assured of a large circulation of lies. Germans were warned not to read them, as these newspapers were assured of a large circulation of lies.

British government. Likewise, eminent American whose sympathies were for Germany were assured of a large circulation of lies. Germans were warned not to read them, as these newspapers were assured of a large circulation of lies.

This campaign went on day after day, week after week, month after month, until the German-American press was thrown on the side of Germany and against the United States.

The neutrality of the administration was attacked at every point and every angle. The German-American press was apparently edited by one man and directed by one man. Whatever the issue, they all said the same thing. Every new scheme for bedeviling the United States and inciting sedition for the benefit of German autocracy received their strident approval and support.

It's difficult to understand the German people. For two years they have seen their armies held up and unable to attain their objectives; they have experienced the growing pressure of the Allied blockade and suffered the increasing discomforts of hunger unappeased. But through it all they have not lost faith in their leaders or abandoned hopes of victory. Their credulity is unbounded. Year after year they have robbed them of initiative and independence of thought. They still believe that the British are exaggerating the battle of Jutland, and that German submarines are causing famine and starvation throughout the United Kingdom. They are prepared to believe anything the government tells them as to this war. Especially are they consumed with hatred of Great Britain, and ready to accept any report of British extravagance as to conditions in the British Isles.

In the Prussian House of Deputies during the recent session the Socialists urged the extension of the franchise to women. EFFORTS BEING MADE TO INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION IN DOMINION

PROVINCIAL AND CIVIC AUTHORITIES INTERESTED

Minister of Agriculture Tells of the Different Measures That Have Been Adopted by the Government to Encourage the Production of Crops of All Kinds from Coast to Coast

Hon. Martin Burrell, when asked what efforts were being made to increase food production, said in part:

"The wheat yield of the three western provinces in 1913 was 209,262,000 bushels, and in 1914, 140,938,000 bushels. Assistance was imperative. War made it more imperative. An extraordinary situation justified extraordinary measures, and for the supply of necessary food and fodder, and for seed grain on an up of wheat in the Federal government advanced the sum of $12,309,000."

"The Department of Agriculture, in the winter and spring of 1915, carried out a campaign of 'Patriotism and Production.' As a result of the sentiment aroused, and of the fortunate climatic conditions, we witnessed, happily, the greatest harvest in the history of the western country—342,948,000 bushels. Another campaign of 'Production and Thrift' was made in the winter and spring of 1916. Unfortunately, the climatic conditions of 1916 were the reverse of favorable. An excess of moisture in many parts of the country, widespread outbreaks of rust, and other difficulties, resulted in a wheat crop in the three western provinces of approximately 199,900,000 bushels, and shortage of most crops throughout the country, with the exception of hay."

"It seemed desirable, therefore, that the department should meet the new situation in a new way. England, whose average crop of wheat is 61,000,000 bushels, and whose yearly import of wheat is approximately 210,000,000 bushels, could no longer look to Russia. Supplies from Australia and India, and even supplies from Canada and the United States, were rendered more difficult and more costly by shortage of transportation and by the submarine menace. The nations were vital; foodstuffs vital. Restriction of unnecessary imports was found to come. The situation touched on above, it seemed clear that Canada should increase her productive effort and direct them along the right lines."

"For this reason an appeal was issued recently to citizens, not only in the rural but in the urban communities, followed by a personal letter to the mayor of every town and city in Canada, setting the situation forth in some length and inviting co-operation. Every provincial minister of agriculture was also written to, and directors of national service and others, and from the replies, it is abundantly evident that a feeling of healthy sentiment exists all through the country, and that already much excellent work has been done."

"We have organized a special bureau of information in the department, and in the provinces, and have already printed, have in preparation special pamphlets and circulars designed to be of direct practical use to those who have hitherto paid little attention to gardening or production of any kind."

"The experimental farm system now embraces twenty-five farms and stations, covering the country from coast to coast. The work is naturally nearly all of an experimental or investigational character. This year the officers in the respective districts have been instructed to direct their efforts to the immediate problem of crop production, and the help of the experimental farm should stretch over a large territory."

"A departmental committee has been appointed to give special, and close attention to the whole question of food supplies. It consists of Mr. Grisdale, Director of Experimental Farms; J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner; George H. Brown, Commissioner; H. S. Arkell, Assistant Livestock Commissioner, and Mr. J. Black, Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Instruction act. These officers will keep in touch with the situation and report to me from time to time."

"Amongst those products upon which particular stress may be laid are: Wheat, oats, peas, beans, beef, bacon, poultry, eggs, butter, and cheese."

"In regard to the appeal of the people in cities and towns for the utilization of vacant lots and gardens in productive work, it is obvious that vegetables, including potatoes, would be chiefly grown. Potatoes are not a perfect food, but a heavy water content, and are bulky to be a very desirable form of export to Great Britain. Nevertheless, their food value is considerable, and their production is one of the large crops of this year would assist in the releasing of other more compact and highly nutritious foods, which might be vitally necessary to get to England."

"In Canada for the ten fiscal years 1907 to 1916 the average production has been 70,000,000 bushels. For the past season the crop has been estimated at about 60,000,000 bushels. From the above commercial information gathered from a large number of sources, the present supply, over and above estimated requirements for food and seed, are between 2,000,000 and 2,500,000 bushels."

"It is most encouraging to know of the widespread interest aroused in the towns and cities in this whole question of production. Provincial and municipal authorities, and local organizations of all kinds, are actively engaged in the work."

Count Ferdinand Zeppelin

World Will Ultimately Profit From Invention of the Dirigible Balloon

The name of the late Count Zeppelin is as certain to be perpetuated in every cultured language in the world as is the name of Sir Herbert Maxim, and for a strictly analogous reason: the former was the first experimenter to produce a practical dirigible balloon, as the latter was the first to produce a practical portable machine gun. Alike from the viewpoint of the scientist and from that of the man in the street, it matters little what motive prompted the inventor in either case, any more than in that of Morse who invented the telephone. All four inventions have added immensely to civilization, and during the coming century of peace they will be improved, if not perfected, for pacific rather than the beligerent purposes."

The merit of Count Zeppelin as an inventor, supplemented by the private fortune in conducting experiments so costly that few men can afford to imitate him. The table will ultimately profit by what he has taught it, despite the murderous use of the air-craft in the present war. Compared with the submarine, its destructiveness becomes a bagatelle. The dirigible is a practical, portable, and available for rapid transit on peaceful voyages. At no distant date the dirigible will be used for the transportation of troops, and for the transportation of goods. Zeppelin, probably under some other name for a time, will be found ferrying passengers and goods across the North Atlantic—Toronto Globe.

Discharge and Pension Rules

New Provisions Made for Benefit of Soldier in Respect to Pension

The following memorandum has been issued by the Dominion Minister of Militia:

Important changes have just been promulgated in relation to the discharge and pensioning of Canadian soldiers. Hereafter, no invalided soldier will be discharged from the Canadian Expeditionary force until a medical board has certified that further treatment or hospital care will not improve his condition, or that it is advisable that he should pass under his own power.

When discharge has been recommended on account of physical unfitness, it will not be carried out until a notification has been received from the pension commissioners that the amount of the pension has been determined. The notice will make clear on what day the pension will commence and until that time, pay should be made to the soldier or to those dependent on him.

The adoption of this system insures the soldier receiving his pension immediately on his discharge, up to which time his pay provincial forestry and fire protection. Pensions are always paid monthly in advance.

Private Charles Burrows, brother of William Burrows, and a returned veteran, has had five operations since the middle of February. Charles was gassed in the second battle of Ypres. He is now in the sanatorium at Frank, and reported to be gaining in strength every day.—Clareholm Review-Advertiser.

Alberta coal may be used on some of the warships of the American navy. Tests of coal from the mines at Canmore have been made at the navy yards on the west coast, along with samples from some of the British Columbia mines. The results have been satisfactory, it is said, and it is possible that arrangements will be made for a regular supply from both sources.

Calgary-citizens have formed a Vacant Lots Improvement Club, and no obstacles are being placed in the way of cultivating the hundreds of lots in that city, which have up to the present year been non-producing. It is claimed that the vacant lots within the limits of Calgary can be made to raise sufficient vegetables for the city's consumption. Besides the cultivation of vacant lots assures their cleaning up and the beautifying of the city.

Power—Economy

This new Overland Country Club Light Four is a distinctive and smart car in the low priced car class.

The rich gray body, with black fenders and trimmings, is set off to pleasing advantage by red wire wheels that give just the right flash of brilliant color.
